Public Assistance And Social Services In DeKalb County. Whether you need food or cash for paying for basic needs, or other aid, then public assistance programs in DeKalb County Georgia may be able to help. The local government provides a number of services for low income families and people who are struggling. While the number of residents who may qualify is limited, and the government can't address all needs, some short term aid may be provided. Call (404) 370-5000, or get more details below.

Government Food And Cash Assistance

Food Vouchers And Stamps can be offered by the DeKalb County Department of Family and Children Services as well as the Georgia Department of Human Resources, Division of Family and Children Services. Public food programs are offered for people who are unemployed, working but are receiving low wages, or if they receive welfare or some other form of government cash assistance. It is really for people who have a limited income and are struggling with buying their food and groceries for their families. The exact amount of food stamps a DeKalb County household can receive is based on U.S. Department of Agriculture guidelines. This particular service was not intended to provide all of the food family may need, but to only supplement their budget and existing resources.

Cash, Employment, And Social Services are all provided by the DeKalb County Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF). The objective is to offer financial assistance and case management on a temporary basis to qualified families. Some of the resources offered include work opportunities, job preparation, enforcement of Child Support, and other support services. Of course cash provided by the government can help pay for immediate needs, such as shelter and energy expenses.

DeKalb County residents can at most receive cash assistance and aid from TANF for at most 48 months. Applicants need to have children, be pregnant, and/or meet other low income guidelines as established by Georgia and federal government requirements.

You can also apply for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) from the DeKalb Department of Family and Children Services. This resource is a financial assistance/grant program administered by the federal government Social Security organization. This can provide individuals with a monthly check for paying for their expenses, as well as offer free health care from Medicaid.
